

Employee Spotlight

Christopher Bailey Senior Physical Therapist

Galena-Stauss has its own super hero and he just happens to be our Employee of the Month, Christopher Bailey. He is being rewarded for his outstanding good samaritan efforts and community voluntarism.

Several weeks ago, Chris came upon an injured cyclist and stopped to help. While the cyclist's family watched, Chris diagnosed the injured man's fractured and dislocated elbow and delivered him to the ER. These shows of altruism reflect positively not only on Chris' character, but the reputation of Galena-Stauss as well.

At Galena-Stauss, Chris serves as Senior Physical Therapist. Chris works diligently to "treat patients with acute or chronic pain and to create exercise programs for rehabilitation."

Chris enjoys the variety of challenging demands that come with his job. "Every day is a little different," he says. "I enjoy working here because I see positive change in people – patients and co-workers included."

Off the job, Chris volunteers his medical skills at Galena JV and Varsity football games. Chris also enjoys athletics himself. Chris likes to shoot hoops in his spare time and once a year runs a half marathon.
